Background

Since 1936, Class Produce has developed and maintained long-standing relationships in the food industry through consistent focus on integrity, customer service guarantees, food safety, quality, and cost effectiveness for their customers.

Now in its third generation of family ownership, the Class Produce Group maintains its standing as a premier marketer of quality fresh produce with growers and retailers nationwide.

Tomato Repacking Division

This "largest area of growth for the company" brings a new level of state-of-the-art customization to their customers. They boast a "proven reputation" because they have "the product, amounts, quality, and ability to deliver." Their high standards allow them to continue to satisfy customers beyond their expectations, now and in the future.
